Do You Think of the Days That are Gone,

JENNIE?

BALLAD.

MUSIC

BY

H. D. L. WEBSTER.

2½

CLEVELAND:

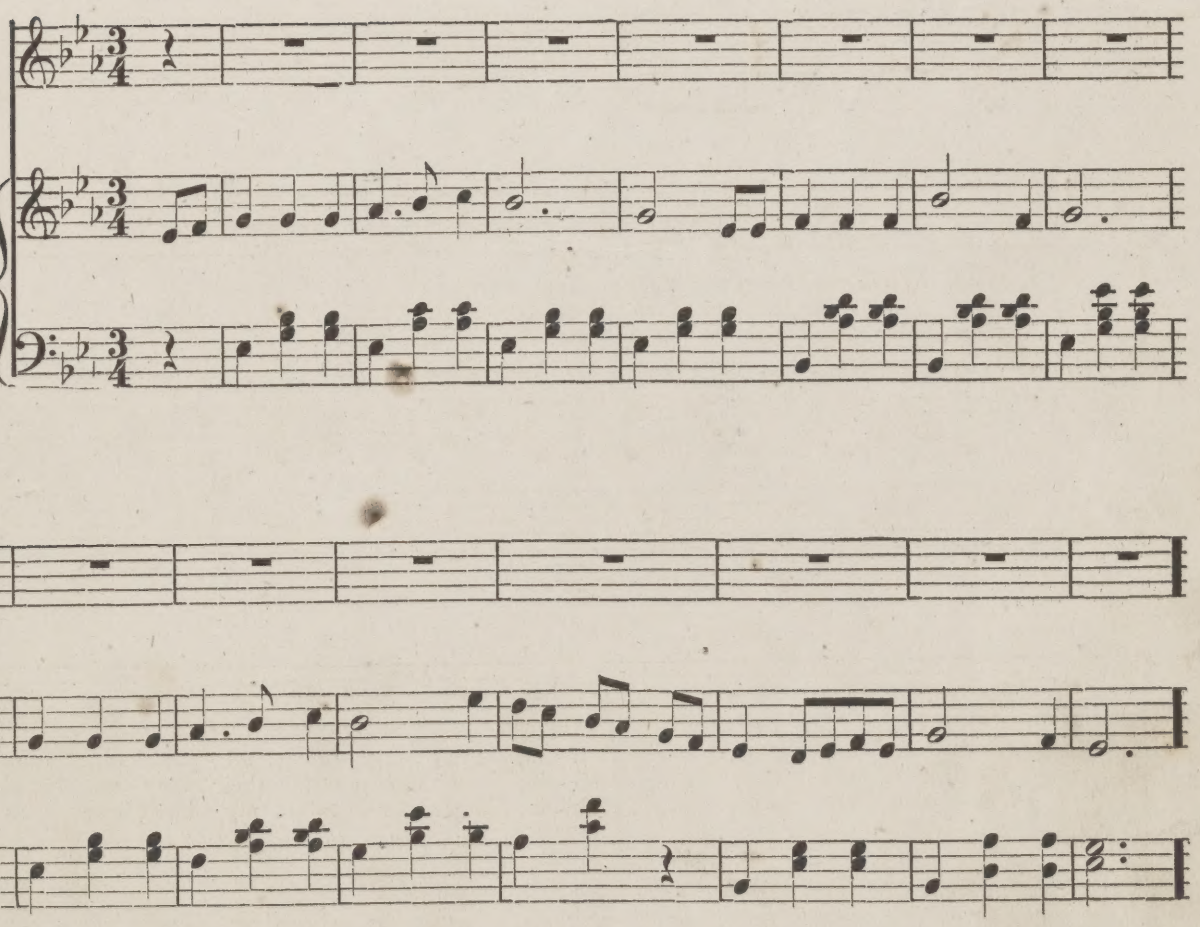
Published by S. BRAINARD & CO., 203 Superior Str.

HENRY DARAN, Music Stereotyper, 538 Broadway, New York.

DO YOU THINK OF THE DAYS THAT ARE GONE,

JENNIE?

Music by H. D. L. WEBSTER.



Entered according to Act of Congress, A D. 1863, by S. BRAINARD & CO., in the Clerk's Office of the Distrtict Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

1. Do you think of the days that are gone, Jen - nie, As you sit by your
2. Do you think of the hopes that are fled, Jen - nie, As you sit by your
3. Do you think of the friends that are gone, Jen - nie, As you sit by your fire at night? Do you wish that the morn would bring back the fire at night? Do you gath - er them up as they're fad ing fire at night? Do you wish them a round you a - gain once time, When your heart and your step were so light? I think of the fast, Like buds with an ear - - - ly blight? I think of the more, By the hearth that they made so bright? I think of the days that are gone, Rob - in, And all I en - joyed in them then;

hopes that are fled, Rob - in, I mourn not their stay was so fleet;
friends that are gone, Rob - in, They're dear to my heart now as then;

But the brightest that ev - er a - rose on me, I have nev - er wish'd
They fell as the leaves of the red rose fall, But ev - en in
But the best and the dear - est a - mong them all, I have nev - er wish'd back a - gain; . . . . . But the bright-est that ev - er a - rose on falling were sweet; . . . . . They fell as the leaves of the red rose back a - gain . . . . . But the best and the dear - est a - mong them me, I have nev - er wish'd back a - - gain.

fall, But ev - en in falling were sweet.
all, I have nev - er wish'd back a - - gain.